

An information terminal includes a history management section for recording history information about communication; an information management table for recording history related information indicating a processing state of the history information; and an information history list display section for displaying the history information in connection with the processing state of the history information in accordance with the history related information.

5